PARRY MCCLUER HIGH SCHOOL

2329 Chesnut Avenue
Buena Vista, Virginia 24416
Enrollment: 331

The 1992-93 Parrimac is Dedicated to the Memory of

ELIZABETH LEE BRADFORD

God hath not promised
Skies always blue,
Flower strewn pathways
All our lives through,
God hath not promised
Sun without rain,
Joy without sorrow,
Peace without pain,
But God hath promised,
Strength for the day,
Rest for the labor,
Light for the day,
Grace for the trails,
Help from above,
Unfailing sympathy,
Undying love . . .

Cruisin' Down Memory Lane

If you have a license and live in Buena Vista you have most likely cruised around town. The 1992-93 yearbook is looking into the future. Long after graduation and leaving Parry McCluer and your friends, this yearbook will allow you to cruise again.

After the years have gone by, all you will have to do is open up the yearbook and see all the faces you saw while cruising the strip in days gone by. Who was in your class, who was on the team, looking back at high school sweet-hearts . . . all of that is what this yearbook is for. After graduation, high school will be one of your fondest memories.

The yearbook is your chance to remember all the great times that you had. Look back and remember your friends and the people you took cruising with you. Whether you are a girl hanging out in Mays' parking lot, or a guy riding around blasting "G-Thang" from your stereo, the yearbook is for looking back.

You can take a look at the friends page and see who was hanging out back then and who you were hanging out with. It is also fun to take a look back at yourself in your favorite pair of Levi's, hanging with your friends and deciding who is going to drive to the party at the River Road on Friday night. The guys who are driving will definitely have to stop by Mays' and see what girls are cruising around town and the girls will always have to take a quick trip to the River Road to see what guys are having some "good, clean fun"!

This yearbook is for looking back at times when your biggest worries were homework, gas money and where to go on the weekend. May our version of your "sweet reminiscing" bring you pleasure, for with the purchase of this yearbook, years from now you can look back and enjoy your own personal "Cruise Down Memory Lane".

Freshman Nikki Lockett prepares for another day of academic enrichment in the hallowed halls of learning that Parry McCluer High School is known for.

Kevin Mikels, T.J. Ziegler, Doley Floyd, Jason Baker, Nathan Floyd, Sean Tomlin, Jason Redd, and Brian Sizemore show their true faces before the Homecoming game.

The freshmen show off their different kinds of amazing hats that represent their school pride, during spirit week.

Shake Clark, Keith Martin, and Nickie Chittum enjoy the Renaissance t-shirts so much, they decided to model them for the student body.

Ashley Eason, Charity Lineberry, Melanie Wexel, Michael Pope and Natalie Nowlin put last minute touches on their float as they wait patiently for the parade to start.

Taking a break from Ms. Dale's class, Sheena Woodward and Amber Cauley smile as they try to catch the attention of the cute guy that is walking down the street.

No U- Turn

The life of a Parry McCluer student is always full of excitement. When the weekend finally comes around, you can be sure that another "adventure" will follow. One that, for one reason or another, will never be forgotten. Whether it be a big party or just riding around town.

Students at Parry McCluer do many things in their free time. Some have fun by playing sports, hunting, or fishing. Many have after-school jobs which keep them busy and provide spending money. Still, others look forward to pick-up games at Kenney's.

Although every class of students has its own cliques with their unique hobbies and interests, no matter what their grade or their friends, all of them will always be bonded by the good times and memories they shared and left behind.

Displaying their senior school spirit is three well-known senior girls: Tellie Jones, Cindy Richardson, and Jenny Jo Dyer.

Crystal LaRue returning from the B.A. is caught unaware by the camera.

Christina Nicely and April Chittum are always having a good time, no matter what they're doing.

"My most memorable adventure in high school was camping out with the Senior class at Glen Maury Park. I learned to respect Smokey the Bear. There was laughter and joy. A great memory, Glen Maury never looked so good!" — Jessica Clark Whitney Decker, Marcie Catlett and Elizabeth Stewart try to catch the eye of a "certain someone"!

"My most memorable adventure was running from certain county sheriffs at a New Year's Party. Not to mention hiding out in the woods for 30 minutes!" — Leslie Shumate

"My most memorable adventure was fighting off a skunk with a hotdog when we went camping." — Marcie Catlett

Juniors Rebecca Wheeler and Bridget Hostetter give us the "evil eye."

Cruisers

Everyone has a favorite car and cruisin' strip. Here are some students' choice cars and places to drive 'em:

Doley Floyd — Bug — B.V.

Kim Fitzgerald — '93 Camaro — Magnolia

Nathan Baker — Camaro GT — Magnolia

John Roberts — Jeep Wrangler — Magnolia

Stephanie Clark — Corvette — Roanoke

Leslie Shumate — Volkswagen Cabriolet — Magnolia

Calvin Painter — '56 Corvette — B.V. Strip

Carl Sanderson — Subaru Impreza — Magnolia

Danny Davis — Nissan Ultima — Magnolia

As you can see, it doesn't matter what you drive or where you go, as long as you have a good time.

◆ Shake Clark and Earl McDaniel show everyone that they are not ashamed of their love for one another, as they share an intimate moment.

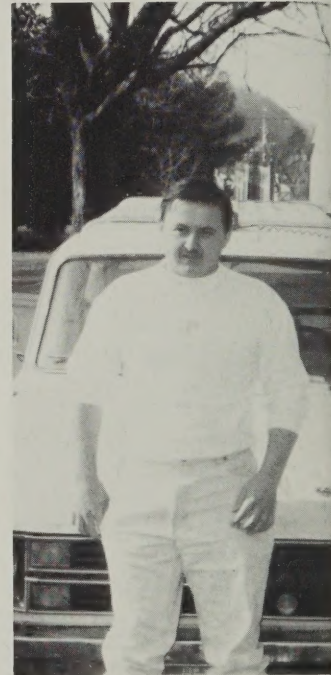

♥ Senior stud Robbie Dickinson shows off his awesome Porsche along with his well-known awesome body.

Sophomore Frankie Austin smiles for the camera as he proves that he loves his truck more than anything.

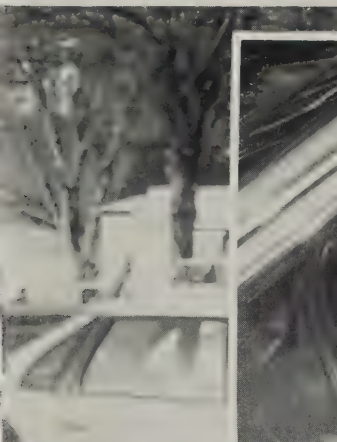

Seniors Kristin Barger and Renee Gibson say they are showing off Renee's car but we know what they are really posing for.

Senior David Ramsey shows that his car is made for more than just riding around, it's good for a few chuckles too!

A rare shot is taken of Senior fire-fighter Nickie Chittum pulling right up to the shop so he won't be late for his favorite class.

Christie Wilmeth shows off her car as she wastes time before class.

Winnie Faye Carr, one of our favorite teachers at PMHS, proves to the students that even faculty members like to go mud-boggin'.

Keith Martin says, "It's got my initials on it, but it ain't mine".

Love Is On The Way

The school mascot Yosemite Sam (D.J. Douglas) is shocked to see someone catching him without his beard as he prepares for the parade.

The atmosphere at the '92 Homecoming was full of mystery. Each class had students who attended this exciting event. While the d.j. played all of our favorite tunes, we danced the night away until the clock chimed midnight, when our magical evening had come to an end. With a sad farewell we left . . . TO GO PARTY!

The "Hat Day Posse" strut their stuff during Spirit Week. This year Spirit Week consisted of All-American Day, Hat Day, Sock It To 'Em Day, Redneck Day, and Blue and White Day. Spirit Week was considered a great success!

Michael Twitty and C.A. Coleman shave water balloons as Mr. Evans and Mr. Horeis "grin and bear it" during the Homecoming pep rally.

No, that's not an unidentified new janitor. Its Danielle Coffey showing her spirit on Redneck Day during Spirit Week.

Strike A Pose

Invitation To Show Your Best:

Who: Any "true blue" Parry McCluer fan

What: P.M.H.S.'s "Strike A Pose" contest

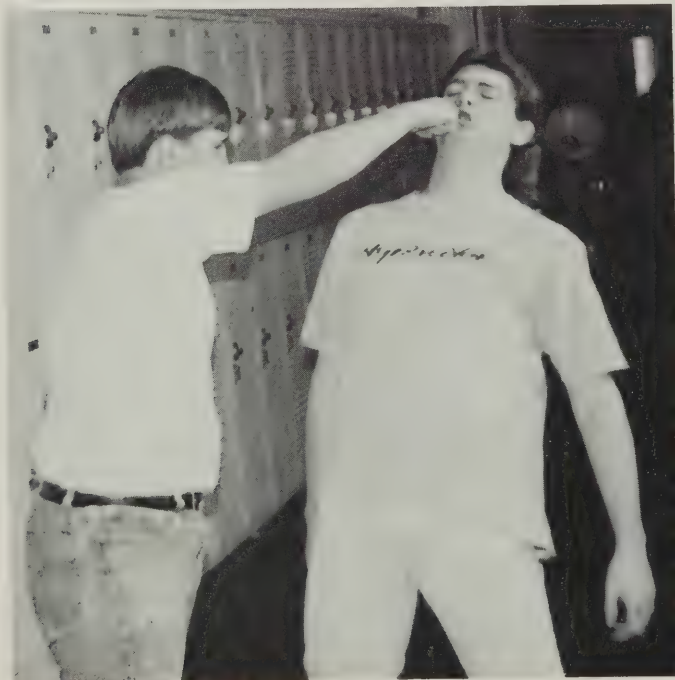

When: Anytime in 92-93 school

Where: Anywhere in B.V. limits

Why: To get your picture in the yearbook

Requirements: Must be willing to show us your "best" or "wierdest" side and have a "Blue" heart and a brave spirit for your school!

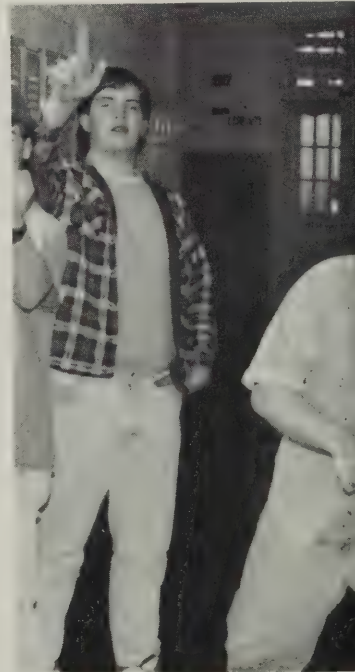

R.S.V.P.

Officers Stacey Trainer and Violet Limbert arrest criminals Shaam Wheeler and Matt Fitzgerald for being off school grounds.

"Don't even think about walking down my hall!", Sophomore Dale Ferrebee tells Junior Wesley Presnell, as he unknowingly sets himself up.

David Williams has a question to ask, as Mike Ramsey attempts to avoid having his actions recorded for the yearbook, for all to see.

Freshman Teresa Wise "strikes a pose" as she sits aboard the SCA Homecoming float and asks the photographer, "Where's my crown?"

Sophomore Josh Floyd portrays the role of a busy Office Systems student, but smiles as he tries to relax from the walk to the B.A.

Freshman David McCormick struts his stuff down a deserted hallway after he has finally found some peace and quiet to escape his fans.

T.J. Ziegler and Jennifer Irvine are all smiles because they have found, after a long search, a private corner to share during lunch.

Russell Shaw glances up as he says, "I'm not trying to steal anything!", but he may be trying to put his best moves on Rachael Bibbo.

Senior Angel Black gets caught as she tries to quench her insatiable thirst for a joyride on one of Perry McCluer's finest buses.

Express Yourself

With Talent

This year's Miss PMHS Pagaent had a new twist. Along with the usual competitions, there was a talent section implemented. The contestants unanimously decided that this was a wise choice because it proved that they were more than just "pretty faces". Here's what a few of the contestants thought.

"It let the audience know that we could do more than model in front of them." — Stephanie Clark

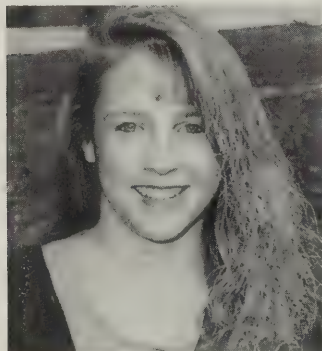

"Adding a talent competition to the Miss PMHS Pagaent gave us all something new to look forward to. Overall, I think it provided excitement for the audience and a lot of fun for the contestants." — Tellie Jones

"Adding this provided the judges and audience with an overall view of the contestants. It gave us something to work for while having fun." — Laura Cash

Contestant Nicole Southers portrays her version of a Spanish fan/baton dance to contribute to the talent portion of the Miss PMHS Pagaent.

Among the entertainers occupying our time while the contestants prepared for eveningwear, Jessica Clark and Amber Cauley sing "Endless Love".

Cristie Ayers, Junior

Laura Cash, Sophomore

Stephanie Clark, Senior

Amy Griffin, Sophomore

Immediately following her crowning and receiving her roses, the new Miss PMHS 1993, Amy Griffin, smiles her way down the runway.

"I was stunned! I am very honored to be chosen to represent our school. I hope to do my best and live up to a good reputation for Miss PMHS."

Friends

Times spent together,
Cars we use,
All the money we spend,
The clothes we choose.
Weekend night movies,
Walking in the park,
Telling our fears,
Scared of the dark.
Money to lend,
The stuff we buy,

Our "private" talks,
About all the guys.
The fun we've had,
May it never end,
We want it to last,
And always be friends!

Make It Last Forever

Saving Forever For You

Juniors Greg Buzzard and Christie Wilmeth trade their partners and dance with each other for a while.

The 1993 Junior-Senior Prom was definitely one to be remembered. "Make It Last Forever" was exactly the thought that went through many seniors minds as the night started to wear down. The work that the juniors put into the prom was very obvious from the time one entered the door. From the stars floating from the chandelier in the foyer, to the curtains of silver streamers hanging from the balcony, anyone could tell that they had worked very hard trying to "Save Forever" for the seniors. It was hard to make Chandler Hall beautiful, but they managed to make the ballroom look perfect in every way. After a tearful but proud Senior Walk, Paige Owens and Marcie Catlett were crowned Prom King and Queen. All in all, the night was a tremendous success; one that we all wish could have "Lasted Forever". Thank you Class of '94, for making our prom one that we will at least remember forever.

Amy Huffman and Jenny Jo Dyer are "all dolled up" for the prom.

The newly crowned Prom King Paige Owens and Prom Queen Marcie Catlett, pose together proudly.

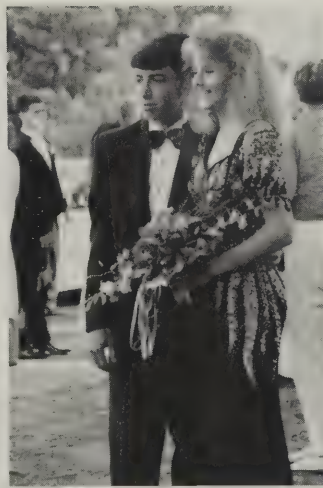

Danielle Coleman and her escort eye the refreshments hungrily.

Angie Sizer and David Ramsey live it up on this night of nights.

Stacey Coleman and Sarah Beth Tomlinson take a break from dancing.

Cary Floyd and Tara Sorrells smile for one of many pictures.

Seniors Shannon Presnell, Paige Owens, and Chris Farris pose together after realizing this is one of the last times they'll be together.

Looking Back

I Remember You

The graduating class of 1993 has had a long cruise through the hallowed halls of Parry McCluer High School. The past four years have been ones that will never be forgotten. The class of 1993 was a group with a lot of diversity as well as determination.

As we entered PMHS we fit right into the everyday pattern of high school students. While trying to establish an identity for our class we experienced our first Homecoming and pep rallies. There was also the one and "only" All-Night-Read-A-Thon.

Supporting our troops during the Persian Gulf War during our sophomore year will stick in our hearts forever. Near the end of the year those long-awaited class rings were ordered.

The Class of '93 had a wild junior year. At a "happening" party, you could always find a member of our class. We received our class rings which were proudly worn and looked forward to decorating for the Junior-Senior Prom. As the class of 1993 grew closer, the hands of time moved ever so quickly creating fewer days until graduation. Getting parking privileges and being greeted into assemblies and pep rallies with standing underclassmen seemed to brighten our days. On March 26th the class took our final field trip together to Washington, D.C. The last big events of our high school careers were Prom and graduation, each a great success. (Both being teary-eyed for some.) We have now come to a crossroads — looking forward yet looking back. Despite going our separate ways, each member of the Class of 1993 will hold a place in our hearts forever. Congratulations and Good Luck for continued success!!

While decorating for the Homecoming float, senior Jim Smith yells something obscene.

At the Renaissance volleyball game, Tellie Jones, Keith Martin, Earl McDaniel, and Paige Owens do a stunt to entertain the crowd.

Class of '94

The Junior Class of the 92-93 school year had an exciting year. At the beginning, class members received their long-awaited class rings at the annual ring dance. Next, they finally achieved their freedom when they received their licenses. Many juniors also received cars, then they were able to cruise around town with their friends. With the end of their junior year of high school now upon them, the juniors are looking forward to next year when they will become the seniors of the 93-94 school year. We, the yearbook staff, would like to wish the upcoming Senior Class of Parry McCluer High good luck.

"Decisions"

During October, the Guidance Department sponsored the annual College Day. This provided an opportunity for juniors and seniors to take a look at the many available colleges. The event was held at the very crowded Chandler Hall. The students made the long walk up the hill after lunch. This event made it possible for students to learn about the colleges that they may want to attend after high school. Many colleges from the surrounding area and a few other states contributed to the day by coming and offering information. Even though some of the students were not thinking of college yet, the day was still a success!

Makes The Difference

YOU CAN QUOTE ME
ON THAT!

Are you in favor of year-round schools?

"Yes, you can learn more and not become so burned-out." Jim Smith

"Yes, it's a real change from our present system and we really need it." Jodies Keyes

"Yes, because you wouldn't get tired of the same old routine." Stacy Kennedy

"No, because it interrupts the summer months when everybody goes on vacation. Also, summer gives you something to look forward to every year." Melissa Spangler

"Yes, because it will help people who are not able to do well by allowing them the extra time they need to catch up." Josh Floyd

"No, because people like their summers off. Summer school is okay, but year-round works differently." Scotty Floyd

"I'm really not sure. I haven't been told enough about the program to really understand it. But, I'd be pretty open to learning more about it." Timmy Snead

"No. I think it would just be easier to keep things the way they are." Angie Lowe

"Yes. The breaks are nice and it gives you more time to work on term papers and class projects." Shannon Coleman

"Yes. I think it sounds neat. I only wish they had implemented it while I was here to enjoy it. I think it will really benefit our students." Jenny Jo Dyer

Two "Parrimac" staff members, Jim Smith and Holli Floyd, sat down with Dr. Bradford to talk about the year that had past. Following are their questions and his replies:

What has been your biggest challenge with the school system this year?

"Educating the public about the year-round school program. The program would be introduced at the elementary and middle school levels and would include 3-5 days of enrichment and 10 days of remediation following 60 teaching days. I will continue to work to improve the educational program for all Buena Vista students and I feel that this is an important aspect of our future."

What do you like most about your job:

"Being able to provide and be involved in the implementing of long-range improvements and opportunities for our students. For example, our students can now take advantage of dual-enrollment classes. These classes allow our students to earn college credits while still in high school. This not only encourages the child to continue their education by giving him/her a head-start on their college career; but, also builds their self-esteem by giving them the confidence they need to go on. In the school year 1990-92, 75% of our students furthered their education.

What do you hope to accomplish next year?

"I will continue to focus on educating the public about the year-round school program, but also I will be involved in the five-year interim review of all of our city's schools. We are in the process of making some exciting and innovative changes in the high school curriculum. A part of this process will be the implementation of block scheduling.

Teacher

Just One More Question, Please

Teaching is a very demanding occupation that requires total commitment. Often the rewards cannot be seen for years, when a student comes back to say, "I really enjoyed being in your class. I learned a lot."

We asked some of our faculty what the hardest part of their job was and they replied:

"The hardest part of being a teacher is when you have students who can do, but won't because they don't work." — Mrs. Floyd

"The hardest part of being a teacher is failing to impress talented students that an education is important." — Mrs. Martin

"The hardest part is Teaching students the "right moves" in basketball comes naturally to Coach Fox, who has enjoyed teaching and coaching here for many years.

having lazy students." — Mr. Waddell

Likewise we asked what the most rewarding part was. To this they replied:

"The most rewarding part of teaching is when I see the excitement and enthusiasm in the students when they have mastered music which had been difficult for them, and they know they sound good." — Mrs. Burks

"The most rewarding part is working with students." — Mrs. Carr

"The most rewarding part of being a teacher is seeing the students (most of them) grow and mature from year to year." — Mr. Bleech

Some Gave All

A teacher's life does not end at 3:15. You are a leader and an example for young people in your community. They follow examples more often than words. You leave your room to coach, go to after school meetings, attend student functions or athletic events or attend meetings for community associations.

"A Teacher's Prayer"

Each time,
before I face my class,
I hesitate a while,
And ask the Father,
"Help me, Lord,
to understand each child.

"Help me to see in every one
a precious soul, most
dear;

And may I lead that child

Through paths of wonder — not of fear.

"Dear Father, as they look to me
for guidance true,
I look to Thee and humbly ask that Thou wilt teach me, too."

Nellie Pease Gorbett,
1957

"Getting pie in the face isn't so bad," says Principal Wayne Flint.

Mrs. Pryor helps Larry Henry work on a Peer Helper's project. Mrs. Pryor enjoys a close relationship with the students she works with.

Always willing to give help where it's needed, Mrs. Floyd even donated her own blood because the students asked her to participate.

Mr. Evans works as a landscaper in the summer. A strong work ethic and sincere love of teaching make Mr. Evans an excellent teacher.

Mrs. Hawkins and Dr. Bradford look over a speech that he gave at a meeting of the League of Women Voters. Both are very involved in community projects.

Ms. Martin enjoys serving punch at prom. Being active in the students' functions helps her to maintain a close relationship with them.

Ms. Dale goes the extra step with her students making sure they have access to every resource required to develop a stable self-esteem. Ms. Dale is known for her love and work with animals which she believes adds immeasurable joy to your life.

Mrs. Whitesell is very active with her gospel group, "The Sounds of Victory". Often, the group performs for school events. Mrs. Whitesell tells her students that it's okay to be yourself and stand up for your beliefs.

Athletic Avenues

Have No Speed Limits

Athletics have always been a tradition at Parry McCluer. We asked students: "What's the thing you liked the most about playing sports at PMHS?"

Heidi Broughman: "The coaches. They are patient and have a good sense of humor. You can tell that they want to be there to help you learn and achieve something in life. Well, almost all of the coaches!"

Paul Majors: "I like the coaches. I feel that they help to bring out the best in people, academically and athletically. Hard work now, brought out by the coaches, will help serve you better later in life."

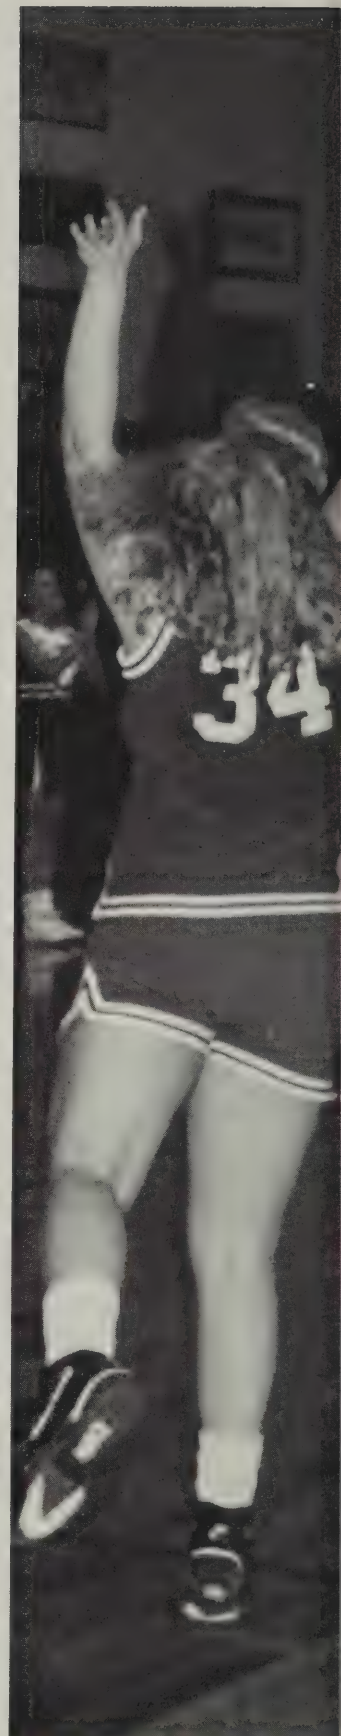

Christina Nicely: "Going to away matches in the back of the station wagon was fun at times. Although Dad was not the best of drivers, we always made it to where we were going!"

Kristin Barger: "I like being on a team with other people. You feel like a family and everyone is real close. It's a good experience that everyone should endure."

Fair Lanes

Golf is a game of strategy and lots of hard work. Early before the season (and school) began, members of the team were putting in hours of practice on the course. Although the team had the talent, their chance of winning doubled as the season progressed. "Our team was so-so this year because we lost all of last year's seniors," said Senior C.A. Coleman. Many members on the team had never experienced competition play, so they were a little nervous during the matches. Having some experience under their belts, the "Blue Golfers" should be back stronger than ever next year.

Great Season

Upon reflecting on the past season, I am satisfied that each team member learned that in order to run cross country and enjoy it, that he must have had a goal to accomplish. Each runner did establish a goal and then worked on a course of action that helped him achieve his goal. All the team members pushed themselves to improve their course times.

Endurance Pays Off

I enjoyed coaching these young men. They got along well together. They looked after one another and instilled in each other a will to physically and spiritually push themselves further than they ever thought possible.

I told this team that over the course of the season they would witness dramatic decreases in their times for the three-mile course. The only requirement was to stick with it. Their efforts paid off at the district and regional level. These young men passed the test, as far as I am concerned. They maintained a tradition that has become a hallmark of athletics at Parry McCluer. That tradition includes spirited effort, honor, and winning.

Make The Difference

The 1992-93 football season started off with a bang as the Fighting Blues defeated last year's defending state champions, the William Monroe Dragons. The Blues went undefeated until the District game, which they lost to Gilead 16-7. The fact that this was the first loss of the season combined with the pressure of it being televised live made the loss hard to cope with. The leadership and determination of the fourteen seniors who were unable to give up, on this year's team, helped keep the rest of the team's heads up and their hopes high as they went on to defeat Narrows, 40-6. This win gave the Blues the Region C Division I-A title and a boost to the semifinals.

The Blues winning season was cut short after the state semifinal game with Appalachia. The Blues came off the field muddy and tired, without a win as they were defeated 8-6. The Fighting Blues are still the best of all the fans and to the school. Go Big Blues!

Brings Pride

The J.V. girls had a "trying" season. Most being 8th graders, they had a great deal to overcome. But with their strong efforts and desire to succeed, next year's returning players will have a strong team.

"My inexperienced team consisted of 11 players, 10 of whom were 8th graders. My girls had a lot of heart and I am very proud of them. I'm expecting to have a good year next year."

During a time-out, with an intensely stern look, Coach Haywood Hand takes his girls to the sidelines to give them a short pep talk to rouse them up to victory.

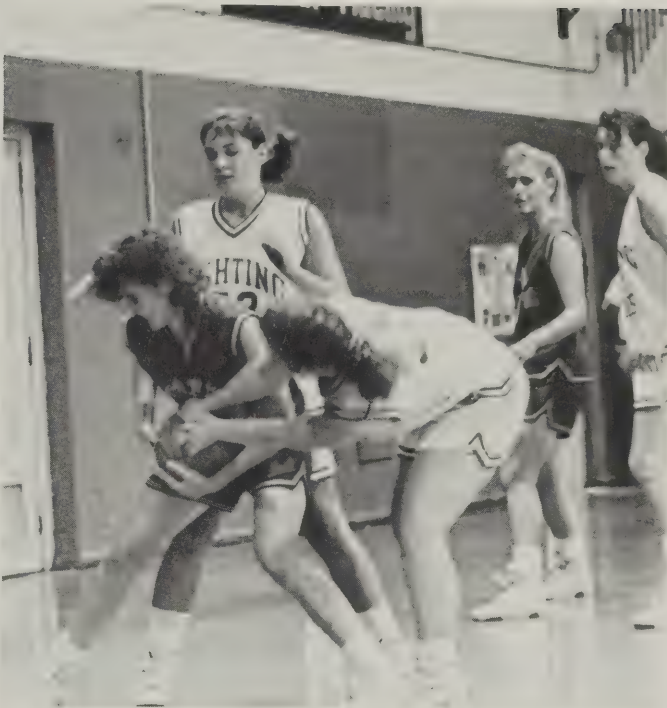

Senior Martha Glass jumps high to win the tip-off over the Lady Wildcats from the newly created Rockbridge County High School, one of our biggest rivals this year.

"Mr. Hand was an excellent coach. He helped me learn the techniques I needed to know. Playing with older girls helped me develop a good attitude."
— Natalie Nowlin

Senior Nikki Camden and sophomore Misty Snider give their all as they double team as James River Lady Knight to gain control of the ball.

Lady Blue Stephanie Rhodes gets ready for take-off as she brings the ball to the hole for two against the Lady Rams.

Can Ya' Dig It?

"The end of wisdom is to dream high enough not to lose the dream in the seeking of it". We had big dreams and high hopes for the 92-93 teams; some came true, some did not.

After a good start, we had a mid-season slump that hurt our chances of going to the Regionals. Our season came to an end when we were defeated by James River at the District Tournament. Our final record was a respectable 12-6 overall.

Our four seniors will be missed, but we have four juniors and a sophomore who will be a great help. Also, six sophomores are coming up from J.V. that have seen a lot of playing time. With a lot of hard work and dedication, they will be tough to beat.

Ross Bleech

Carrie Coleman:
"We improved a lot over the season but had a disappointing loss in the districts."

Jessica Clark:
"Time consuming, yet a much-needed challenge."

Kirsten DeReus concentrates on bumping the ball to the opponent.

Net-Work!

Team unity made up for any inexperience these young ladies might have had. "Although there were a lot of players that were good, it was all the team effort that made the team work," said Kristin Keiser. This unity was the key factor in the junior varsity volleyball team's success. The J.V. team closed the season with a 13-3 record. "This team was young but worked hard to accomplish their goals well. Their hard work will pay off when the girls move up to the Varsity level." — Coach Tony Brads.

Emily Burch, Kristin Keiser, and Misty Snider play close attention to their coach, Tony Brads, as he gives careful instructions on the strategic plans they should use to help them overcome their fierce rival.

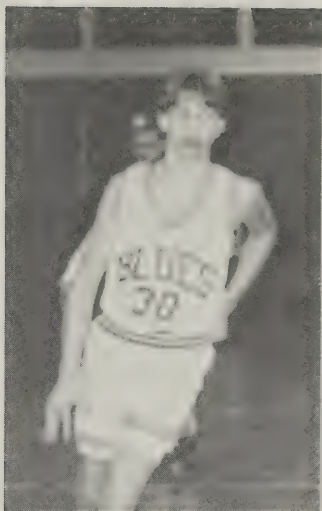

Misty McGuffin waits for the right moment to spring into action to execute an awesome block that the other team is sure to receive.

Coach Fox shows D.J. Douglas some tried and true defense maneuvers in the basketball camp held during the summer.

Ian Humphries hustles over to the sidelines to take the ball out of bounds in the game against Highland. The Blues were the victors.

Shawn Sorrells runs down the court to take up his defensive position in the game against Wilson Memorial.

Little Blues

Combine Abilities

With youth and inexperience coupled with speed and agility, the Little Blues basketball team began the season with high hopes. Under Coach Rad Patterson, the team faced a tough line-up but ended the season 3rd in the district and with a 12-7 record.

In their first game, the Blues walked away with a loss against Wilson Memorial, but made their mark as determined fighters. Their spunk and doggedness won the fans over. Everyone is expecting the best next year from these boys. Team members included: Chase Clark, Michael Clark, Chip Coleman, David Coleman, D.J. Douglas, Brandon Garrett, Ian Humphries, Josh Lineberry, Mike EcElroy, Robert Snider, Shawn Sorrells, and Jeff Zangari.

Senior Jason Baker proves that it's not too hard for him to jam as he drives in for a professional type lay-up against district opponents, the Covington Cougars.

“YOU CAN QUOTE ME ON THAT!”

This year's team was a very good group to work with and they improved throughout the season. Ever though we did not shoot well from the floor or free throw line, the players made up by playing aggressive defense, running the fast break, and being very unselfish.

The Blues finished second in the district with a 14-7 record. The team scored 65 points per game while giving up only 55 points on defense. The team loses two of their best players to graduation, Jason Baker and Paige Owens, but next season looks very promising with nine returning letterman.

— Coach Nelson Fox

Take It To The Hoop

Jam It!

The 1992-93 Varsity Blues basketball team had a successful year with a record of 16 wins and 6 losses. This is the best record the Blues have had in recent years. The Blues had only two seniors on the team resulting in the six juniors receiving a lot of playing time. The Blues were coached by two long-time coaching veterans, Nelson Fox, and Asst. coach, Jerry Tutt.

Barnyard Pinfall

The 1992-93 Parry McCluer High School wrestling team had a very successful year. The Blues were led by long-time coach, Mike Craft, assistant coach, Haywood Hand, and five seniors, Donald Floyd, Robbie Dickinson, Jayson Barger, Todd Stinnett, and Sean Tomlin.

The Blues had two returning State Tournament winners. Robbie Dickinson, who won the State last year at 160 pounds, finished third this year at 171 pounds; Jason Hamilton who finished third last year at 112 pounds, won the State Championship at 119 this year. The Blues also had two other state finishers: Jayson Barger, and Todd Stinnett.

The grapplers lost the District but managed to capture the Region C Title. They finished sixth out of thirty-five teams in the State Wrestling Tournament. We wish the best of luck to next year's team.

The girls softball team's season was tough with only three seniors, but every fan agreed they played with heart. The lack of playing experience for the girls slowly dissolved as the season progressed. Day by day and game by game these ladies trudged up the ladder to success. Their journey included lessons not only in game strategy, stance and basic drills; but in being a team player and a "True Blue" girl. Coach Earl Downs taught the girls that it is more important to give your all when you play; represent your school with pride; and be a good team player than it is to win. "Coach Downs is an excellent coach. You always know that he supports you even if you have a bad game. He knows the skills necessary to be competitive and he does a very good job of teaching them." With a look of determination fixed upon her face, Senior Jodie Keyes collides into the secondbaseman with unabandoned fury as she attempts to be safe.

Frustration

The 1993 Big Blues ended the season with a 5-13 record. The season was delayed for the first seven games because of rain. After the rain stopped, the Big Blues began their games with high hopes of a good season. "We didn't have a very good season this year because it seemed we could never get things together in the beginning. I think a lot of that was due to all the bad weather. But, despite the rough start we picked ourselves up and got into the last few games and had a lot of fun." Jayson Barger "We did not have a great season, but we always maintained a positive attitude." Dwayne Davis

To Run

D.J. Douglas darts out of the starting blocks in the meet against Giles hoping to win the race.

"The Parry McCluer track team proved that hard work and dedication can make up for the lack of depth. This year's team consisted of 14 boys (one was an eighth grader) and eight girls. The boys were able to secure second and third place finishes at most meets; the girls usually did not fare so well — mostly because of the lack of warm bodies to fill all of the events.

The boy's team finished fourth at the district meet, while the girls finished in last place. Twelve of our athletes qualified for the Region C meet (nine boys and three girls), and of those, two qualified for the Group A State Track and Field Meet. Robbie Dickinson qualified in the shot-put and Jason Baker qualified in the 400 meter run.

We will be losing six seniors off of this year's squad, however, we hope to return the remaining 16 athletes. We are also looking forward to a greater turnout for the girl's team next year. I have enjoyed my first year as head track coach. I am hoping for and expect great things for next season." Coach Ross Bleech

Limited Victories

The boys' tennis team began their season with an energetic and enthusiastic group that included representatives from all four grade levels. Throughout the season, the young men grew and improved into a strong, dedicated team. Returning veterans generously took the younger members under their wings but often a few feathers were ruffled when the younger prodigies performed better than the lettermen. Although all players were at the top, the seeds were as follows: (1) Scott Deyo, (2) Scott McCormick, (3) Paul Majors, (4) Brian Marlatt, (5) Matt McElroy,

(6) Jody Floyd.

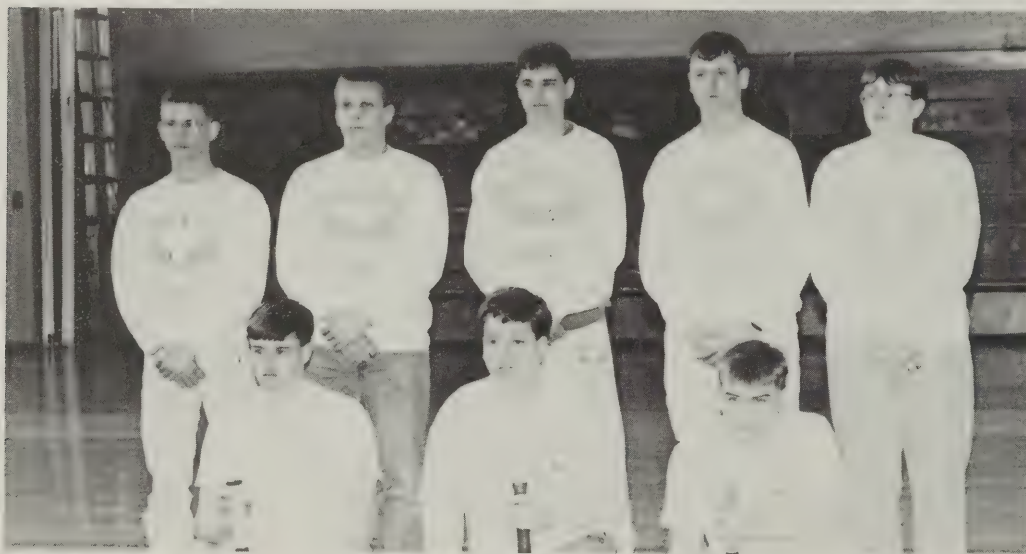

With only two seniors to leave the team, next year should be a great year due to the desire and newly-gained experience of the younger members. Paul and Scott will be missed but we still wish the rest of the guys the best of luck!

Swingin' It

"I joined the team because I like tennis and my friends were playing. I had fun and learned a lot. I will definitely play next year." — Catherine DeReus

The girl's team had a successful season. Although their wins and losses almost cancel each other out, the younger members felt that the year was very useful because they gained the necessary experience to come back next year with a lot more skill. The team was comprised of four seniors, four sophomores, and four freshmen. Hard work at Southern Virginia's tennis courts was not popular among the players, but those who made it through it are sure to say that this is what enabled them to survive playing the long matches in the sun. This year's new coach, Martha Hawkins, was very pleased with the girls. "I have really enjoyed working with this group. They were very open to learning which made my position a lot easier. We had a lot of fun. I will miss my four seniors very much but I am excited about next season."

Melanie Wexel tries to spook her opponent by looking cool and calculated while she returns the ball.

Amy Cooper concentrates as she tries to beat her R.C.H.S. opponent.

Hollie Staton closes her eyes in disbelief as she leaves the court.

Nikki Camden frowns as she angles her racket to strike the ball.

Pulling Together

Preparing to play in the "big league" so to speak is what a junior varsity sport is all about and no coach has taken that job more seriously than j.v. baseball coach Haywood Hand. "Play a j.v. sport really prepares you to move up to varsity," said player Ben Brashears. He continued, "Oh a j.v. team you get more playing time in an actual game situation. This allows you to gain confidence in your own abilities and also allows you to build a strong relationship with the guys you will be playing with on the varsity team. On our team, everyone worked and pulled together when we were down. We had very good pitching this year and a better defensive team than last year."

Chase Clark reaches high for a hit from a Rockbridge opponent. Chase caught the ball which gave the Blues back the batting position.

Freshman Bridgett Barger looks to her fellow cheerleaders as she awaits the cue for her turn in a cheerleading stunt at the pep rally.

Cheerleading is a more difficult sport than what one might first perceive. The most important part of being a cheerleader is being dedicated. Cheerleading is very enjoyable, but it is also a lot of hard work. Cheerleading is not all fun and games. It takes more than just jumping around and cheering, it takes talent.

Cheerleaders have to love what they are doing and they have to show it. It takes a lot of time and work. Some people may believe cheerleaders are only out there to look pretty and they don't have to work hard, but those people don't see the long, rigorous practices the cheerleaders go through. Cheerleading takes the spirit and soul that many people don't have and may never possess no matter how hard they try. So three cheers to all of the PMHS cheerleaders.

Tara Sorrells and Sarah Beth Tomlinson help each other prepare for Homecoming parade, but still have time to smile for the camera.

"This year's squad was one of the best I have ever had. These girls enjoyed the challenge involved in cheerleading. I would like each one to know that I enjoyed working with them and that they made my job more enjoyable." — Susan Moore

The 1992-93 Varsity Cheerleaders described themselves as "compromising" (Leslie Shumate), "hard working" (Renee Gibson), "angels" (Becky Wise), "pretty" (Kristin Barger), "spirited" (Tellie Jones), "wild" (Heidi Broughman), "energetic" (Stacey Coleman), and "free-spirited" (Jessica Clark) when asked by the yearbook staff. These words sum up very well the enthusiasm and personalities of this year's squad. Whenever a Blues team was in action the cheerleaders were always there with a smile and a cheer to get the crowd pumped up as they wait and as they watch their favorite team battle it out with the best of them.

Joe Ramsey gives us his "evil grin", while Claude Clark takes looks at what they've just completed as they take a break in class.

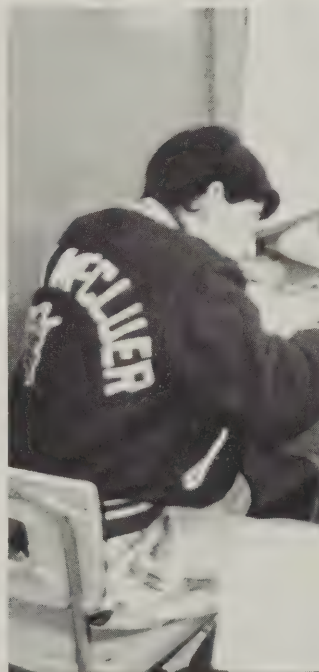

Junior Amy Richardson gives a big "DUH!" as she wonders what the class is talking about in Mr. Evans' Virginia and U.S. History class.

Mrs. Yancy's room is buzzing with activity as German students try to stay ahead of the game. In the front, Stephanie Carter and Gary Camden work on their assignments; while Chase Clark and Wes Shafer seek help.

Sophomore Laura Cash catches up on missed classwork and homework while she takes a break from practicing for the Miss P.M.H.S. Pageant. For Laura's talent, she performed a very dramatic recitation consisting of a scene from the well-known and loved play, "Our Town".

Junior Cary Floyd works with increasing steadiness on his German. Obviously Mrs. Yancy really keeps these students straight-laced!

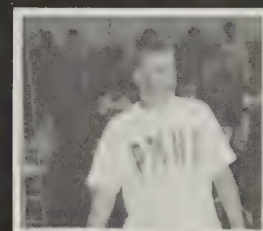

What was your hardest class this year and why?

Shannon Presnell, Senior: "Math because I hate it and it tears me all to pieces. It just tears me up!"

Christy Nicely, Senior: "Spanish III is the hardest subject in the world; we learn everything but that."

Matt Barger, Sophomore: "English is because it is really boring and I hate boring subjects."

Chris Farris, Senior: "Chemistry, because it involved a lot of complicated math."

Senior Angel Black carefully critiques her artwork while trying to decide what she is lacking, during Mrs. Carter's Art III.

Timmy Snead cuts no corners in completing his shop project. With this much concentration, we're sure Mr. Lockett must be nearby.

In Preparation For Reality

On the first day of school, one saw two types of faces. The first looked determined and ready for another year of hard work. The second look disgusted and full of typical teenage angst. But with the rewards provided by Renaissance, it was hard for most students not to give it their all. By rewarding students for their improved grades, deals were offered that couldn't be frowned upon. This year was one of the best years that Parry McCluer has seen concerning grades, attendance, and conduct.

David Williams and Kevin Montgomery show that without friends to help, there wouldn't be much work being completed in the shop.

Wayne Harris is hard at work sanding his project. Many people don't realize just how much work goes into creating these objects.

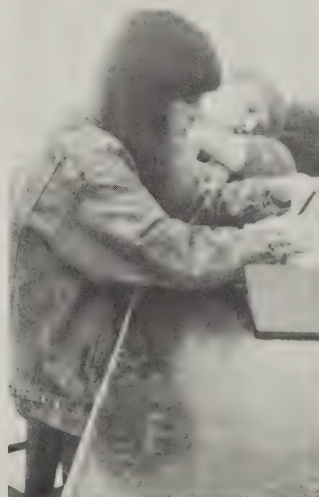

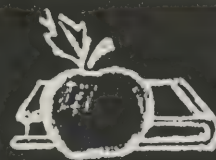

Seniors Crystal Mays, Shannon Presnell, and Scott McCormick basically grin and bear it as they count down the minutes until their physics class (and later their high school careers) is over.

Working on the computer just as diligently as she always works in all of her endeavors is Senior Jodie Keyes.

Mark Chittum wearily focuses on his homework, trying not to give into the temptation that John Weddle has fell to beside him.

What class prepared you the most for your career?

Kelly Sears, Senior — "Word Processing taught me the office skills that I will be needing for my career in medical records."

Dwayne Davis, Senior — "Algebra/Trig and Physics. These classes provided a much needed background in math for a career in radiology."

Emily Burch, Sophomore — "Typing, because it will help in business for future plans."

Senior "cheerleader" Earl McDaniel shows off his great body and proudly displays his new Renaissance T-shirt at a "Drama Club Members V. Media Personalities" volleyball game sponsored by the Drama Club.

Sophomore Ginny Tolley does some last-minute warming up on her rifle-twirling routine to get rid of butterflies just minutes before the Homecoming parade is scheduled to begin.

Success At Last!

After years of being an "okay" band, the Marching Blues were finally stars again during the 1992-93 year. Collectively during the year they received 1st place rifles (William Campbell High School), 2nd place rifles (Greenbrier East), 2nd place guard (twice, WCHS and Powhatan Evening Classic), 3rd place guard (GE), 1st place majorette (GE), 2nd place percussion (WCHS), 3rd place drum major (GE), 2nd place single A band (WCHS), and 3rd place Single A band (PEC). All in all the blues feel that they had a very successful year!

Anxiously awaiting the signal to begin, Michelle Harwley and Amy Cooper stand at attention before the playing of the National Anthem.

Mitch Harrison sidesteps his way across the field while keeping a stern look. Mitch is one of the first quad-drum players since 1988.

Stephanie Clark senior; "In the years I've been in band, I've seen it progress into an excellent group. I wish the . . . members the best of luck . . . and I'd like to tell all the band members this year and in future years that they have a great amount of potential, just don't let it go to waste."

As one of Blue Bird East's final jobs, the band's bus, "Big Blue", received a much-needed paint job. Among others there to receive the bus after its touch-up are Drum Captain Cary Floyd, Drum Major Cristie Ayers, and Band Director Leola Burks.

"Besides doing everything but drama in class, we had fun. Though hectic at times, when it came down to it, we pulled everything together and performed two plays that were half-way decent. I'll always remember the drama posse and the wild field and walking trips that we took. It's hard to believe that this is my last year in drama at PMHS. I feel that my experiences here will have provided me with the background to enable me to excel in my theater courses at Grace College. I will miss my fellow thespians and Mrs. Dickinson greatly." — Christina Nicely

Stacey Kennedy and Tina Link are packed and ready to tutor.

Future Business Leaders

The Future Business Leaders were involved in several community projects this year, giving students the opportunity to "put something back into" their community. FBLA tutored Kling and Enderly students; collected recycled paper throughout the school; and cleaned up trash at the B.A. and along the road from the B.A. to the school.

To add fun to the work, the students took field trips to Natural Bridge in the fall, and visited the General Assembly in session and toured several museums in Richmond in February. In the spring they visited the P. Buckley Moss Museum, the Woodrow Wilson House and went roller-skating.

We See The World

The 1992-93 German Club had a full year of activities. In early October, fifty-eight students attended the Hollins College German Film Festival in Roanoke. "Lili Marlene" was the feature film. Fifteen students attended the Virginia Organization of German students convention at Busch Gardens in late October.

In January, eighteen students attended an evening of three one-act comedies, known as the Caeneralprobe at the Lenfest Center. Every year Washington & Lee invites the German students to this unique and enjoyable cultural event.

Also in January was the annual combined German Club and National Honor Society ski trip to the Homestead in Warm Springs. The handy crew of fifteen, Schilauer and Schlittschuhlauber braved the cold and thoroughly enjoyed themselves.

On April 8, eight excited students (and Frau) flew from the Dallas airport for ten days of touring Germany, Austria, and Switzerland. The group experienced German culture (haeufig), made many new friends, and had an excellent taste of the real German life.

N.H.S.

Is More Than You Think

Being a member of the National Honor Society is a big accomplishment. Many people don't realize that members not only have to acquire scholastic achievements, but they must excel in service, leadership and character.

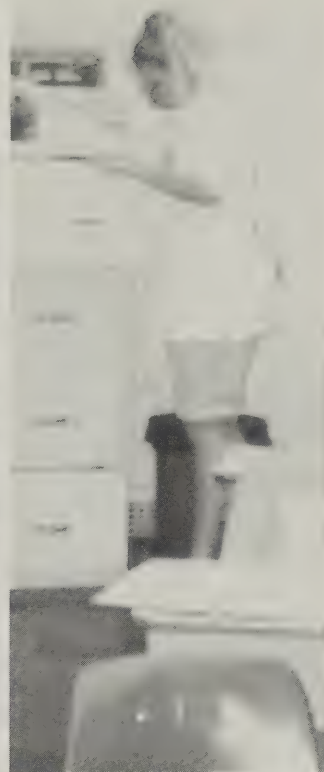

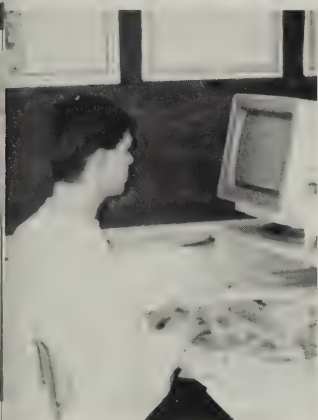

This year their advisor, Judy Noell, was replaced by Mary Jane Mutispaugh and Martha Hawkins. This change didn't involve many problems though. The two ran things almost perfectly. No one would have guessed that they weren't old pros! It certainly didn't affect the number of new members. This year over twenty students were inducted. Rachel McCallister said, "I'm glad to see that so many people are coming into the National Honor Society. I feel it's an honor to be in this and I congratulate the new members."

The People With The News

What is your favorite aspect of newspaper?

Rebecca Wheeler: "I enjoy selling ads.

Tasha Gibson: "I like catching up on all of the latest gossip."

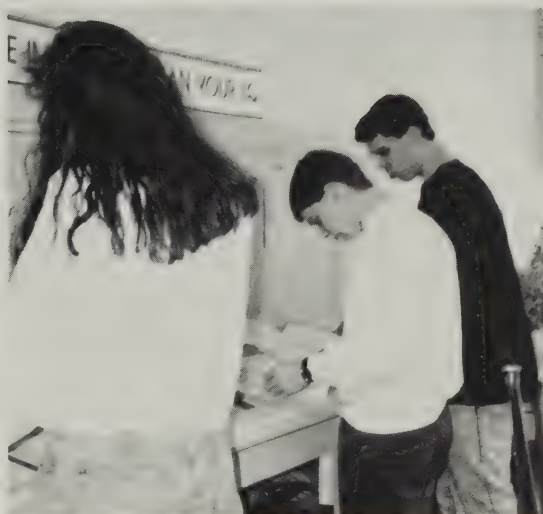

Greg Cash: "I like laying out the paper."

Clay Garrett: "I like writing stories."

Jennifer Porterfield: "I enjoy working on the computer and typing in the articles."

Kristy Floyd: "I enjoy selling ads."

Mrs. Martin: "They like selling ads because they can leave class. The fact that students asked to be in here is what I like. What I dislike is people not furnishing stories when they have said that they would."

Moral Supporters

In its seventh year here at Parry McCluer High School, the Peer Helpers program has finally been accepted. Now when one says that he/she is in Peer Helpers, they are not greeted with, "What's that?". It is a good thing too, because the Peer Helpers have been successful and had many accomplishments this year. Although many projects were worked on, when asked which was the largest or the most effective, the "Thumbbody" program wins hands-down. Senior Amy Cooper said, "The Thumbbody program, sponsored by The Mental Health Association, was our biggest project. The kids seemed to really enjoy it, and we enjoyed participating in the program too." In training for this county-wide event, the members crammed several meetings at lunch into a two-week time period. Once they started though, they couldn't stop. The helpers visited all of the elementary schools in the county. Kling, Enderly, Brownsburg, Mountain View, Natural Bridge, and Effinger were all included in their sweep to bolster the children's self-esteem. This was not the only thing peer helpers did though.

At the beginning of the year, they had an all-day workshop to train for their specialty, peer mediation. All year long they were ready at the call of their name or the ring of their phone to come mediate their fellow students. They also showed new students around our beautiful school. "It's hard to believe people thought they could get lost in our school!" Jennifer Porterfield said. Before the Glenvar game, they produced a public service announcement concerning drugs and alcohol to be aired on Channel 7, during the game.

Last but not least, the peer helpers talked to the fifth grade DARE students at our elementary schools. Larry Henry said, "It felt good to know that you were helping kids who looked up to you." We hope the Peer Helpers are around for many more prosperous years!

Senior Becky Wise gave a huge smile at the mention of "Thumbbody".

To show how many people are killed during the school day because of drunk drivers (one every twenty-three minutes), the Grim Reaper (April Chittum) paid PMHS a visit. The following were a few of the students who were "killed": Row 1 — Dale Ferrebee, Amy Cooper, Melissa Spangler, Frankie Austin, Tim Hare; Row 2 — Heidi Broughman, Kristy Ellington, Carrie Campbell, Charity Lineberry.

Misty Wilhelm was one of the many freshmen who attended the prom and later the SADD's after-prom party.

Busy As Bees

This year's Students Against Drunk Driving was an excellent group of students. Though very small, they were able to pull together and get everything done, generally with great success. At the beginning of the year, when most students weren't even thinking about prom yet, there were already deciding what exciting event they would sponsor this year so that the night would never end.

All year members worked diligently making phone calls and traveling all over Rockbridge County, Lexington, and of course, Buena Vista. It took a lot of convincing, but few businesses gave a negative response to the pleading cries for money and door prizes to fund and keep the after-prom party going. They were even able to talk the Grim Reaper into coming and "killing" a few of our favorite loudmouths to demonstrate how much our lives could be affected by a drunk driver.

The After-Prom Party was held at the Fast Lanes in Lexington from 11:30 to 4 a.m. It was a huge success! Every single one of their twenty-four lanes was packed with groups of anywhere from five to fifteen friends. This resulted in a lot of turn-stealing, as a few people discovered. Everyone was in high spirits (a few a bit higher than others thanks to a few little demons in a certain brewed liquid, but we won't tell!). In other words, the SADD Club, though very limited in numbers, proved that it is quality not quantity and they made sure that everyone knew it!

Paige Owens displays how a real man dunks for apples and proudly shows the result after winning at the S.C.A.'s UNICEF Carnival Booth.

The SCA had a very busy year. At Homecoming, members decorated a truck and rode at the head of the parade. At Halloween, we entered an apple bobbing booth in the UNICEF carnival. At Christmas we sponsored the 1992 Snow Court. SCA members dressed up as Santa and elves and visited Kling, Enderly, and the nursing home. We also had a party for the teachers and staff and bought fruit for the cafeteria and janitorial workers. For Valentine's Day the SCA took orders for carnations in the middle and high schools and delivered them Friday. Next the Ugly Man Contest turned out to be hilarious and a great fundraising event. In April, elections for the 93-94 year were held. Plans for next year are already underway.

Good Causes

The Science Club had a busy year, but it was not difficult to get things done due to the fact that there were over thirty members. One project was the school-wide carnival to raise money for UNICEF. Chasity Lunsford said, "I had a great time at the carnival. It was for a good cause and I got out of class, too. I was disappointed that I didn't get a prize though!" All school clubs helped raise money for poverty-stricken children, by entering their own booth or game. Outside was a dunking booth. The entire time the carnival was operating, there was a large crowd having fun watching people get soaked and cheering the participants on.

Those who went on this trip talked about how fun it was for weeks.

A few members pose for a quick picture after they were found looking for their next beautification project for the Science Club.

Ahora Lo Vez . . .

Y Ahora, No!

(Now You See It . . . Now You Don't!)

At their initial meeting, the Spanish Club was off to an exceptional start. Dues were set and officers chosen. In October, Spanish students traveled to Roanoke where they witnessed the Ballet Folklórico, performed by Jorge Tyller's traveling group. The group's shows have been the students' choice for the past several years.

Mid-year, members went into a slump that they never recovered from. Plans were discussed to travel on a Mexican trek in which students would visit cities of interest such as Mexico City and Acapulco. Unfortunately, due to monetary problems, the trip fell through.

At Christmas students had a culture day. They were eager to test their culinary expertise by creating authentic Spanish treats in their own kitchen and bringing them for their peers to sample. The day was a success in all classes and churros prevailed as the most often made dessert. When they came back from Christmas break, students returned to their back-breaking work and started an intensive study of Spanish gods which created many interesting spin-offs such as the discussion of U.F.O.s as early as the 6th century.

On March 26, 1993, ten students traveled in the school's luxurious station wagons, with chauffeurs Mr. Gravatt and Mrs. Hawkins, to E.C. Glass High School in Lynchburg. Their goal: to compete and blow all rivals away in the National Spanish Exam. Four students placed. At Level I, Hillary McCormick placed first. At Level III, April Chittum and Tim Hare tied for third. At Level IV/V, Amy Cooper placed fourth.

Congratulations to the above, and good luck to next year's Spanish Club. We hope that next year they will land on their feet a little steadier and make it through the year triumphantly!

Broaden Your

Horizons

"I thought that the Mary Washington campus was beautiful. The college offered everything that I could ever hope for. I guess in a sense, this is my dream college." — Jennifer Porterfield

This year's Talent Search was very busy with trips to many colleges. Mary Washington College, the University of Virginia, Radford University, Ferrum College, and Longwood College were all among the many schools on the higher education agenda. Trips to colleges continued into the summer when the program visited George Mason University and William and Mary College. With each class doing something different, it showed the students what steps they should take in preparing for college.

Martha Glass, Leslie Shumate, and Marcie Catlett proudly display the directory to their soon to be home. All three seniors are looking forward to their upcoming years at Radford University.

Here we are taking our final walk together as friends.

At this point, we realize we may never share this closeness again.

Sure we have plenty of great memories to look back on and share

But as we take this walk, we are aware of the mixed emotions filtering through the air.

Some are happy, some are sad, many are thinking back on all of the good times they've had.

I've always been told that high school years are the best years of your life

And I have to say I owe them all the credit simply because they're right

There is no greater experience one could ever create

That could prepare an individual for such a world as the one we live in up to this date.

I never realized how much my high school experience meant to me

Until I started writing this and soon I realized I would be free.

From Freshman, who were known as the "new kids on the block", to SENIORS who are upperclassmen at the very tip top!

Today we stand togeth-

Enjoying One Last . . .

Memory

er as one

However on June 18, our long fought battle will be won.

We will be graduates of Parry McCluer High, however our memories will never depart for some we hold very close and dear to our heart.

Graduation is the day we've all looked forward to in some special way

But "goodbyes" are always the hardest things to say.

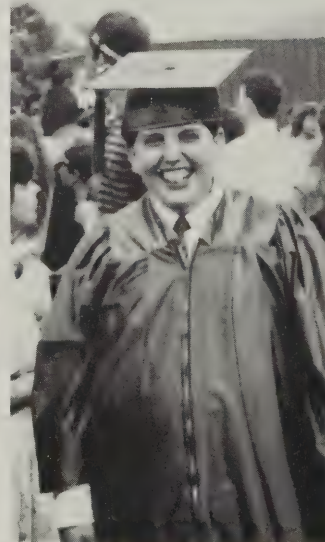

— Tellie Jones

Deborah Bartlett gives the graduation ceremony a thumbs up!

Yes, Larry Henry our cap looks fine.

Jason Barger looks extremely proud after his singing debut.

You've finally reached the top Scotty Floyd — doesn't it feel good?

Paul Majors gives Stacey Kennedy a big hug of congratulations.
